How to Use the Framework

- By the EPS as a way of determining the membership status.
- By those wishing to join the profession and as a benchmarking tool for the professional development of existing Practitioners.
- By employers as a guide to drawing up job descriptions and as a benchmark to ensure that employees are "fit to practice".
- As a foundation for the development of programmes of study and training courses for universities and colleges and Training Providers.

- How can we persuade organisations in the public and private sector to embrace the core competences?
- How can we encourage Training Providers, Educational and Academic Institutions to embrace the core competences?
